

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

There is disclosed an information providing system having a mediator adapted for receiving renewal information for an index from information servers or information
5 sources to select the received renewal information in accordance with index selection condition. The mediator sends the selected renewal information to a retrieval engine.

10